Park, Greenway, Art Al Fresco & You!

The Sculpture Walk Jordan Valley is the place to view permanent sculptures in the beauty of the great outdoors right in the heart of Springfield.

This project made possible by a Collective Impact grant awarded by the Community Foundation of the Ozarks.

About the Artists

James Hall, The Defeat of Bigfoot

The foot. Our most simple and wonderful means of locomotion. My feet often make me aware of their presence when traveling our beloved Greenway trails. Soreness aside, this sculpture is my way of saying, "Look around, absorb the wonder of it all, and check your feet in here at the corner."

James Hulsey, Coryphee, meaning "dancer"

Art gives me a sense of accomplishment. That I can take worn steel and reform it into something one can look upon for only a brief moment and find the peace within.

Nick Willett, Zugzwang

In the game of chess, the queen can move any direction and any number of spaces making her potentially the most active piece. "Zugzwang," a German word meaning "compulsion to move," addresses the theme of motivating people to get outdoors for exercise.

Joe Malesky, Alone in the Crowd

Alone in the crowd is about having the confidence to think for yourself and not just follow the crowd, and the determination to stand up for what you believe in even if you are standing alone.
